A Good Thing.

German Syrup is the special prescription of Dr. A. Boschee, a celebrated German physician, and is acknowledged to be one of the most fortunate discoveries in medicine. It quickly cures coughs, colds and lung troubles of the severest nature, removing, as it does, the cause of the affection and leaving the parts in a strong and healthy condition. It is not an experimental medicine, but has stood the test of years, giving satisfaction in every case which it rapidly increasing sale every season confirms. Two million bottles sold annually. Boschee's German Syrup was introduced in the United States in 1868, and is now sold in every town and village in the civilized world. Three doses will relieve any ordinary cough. Price 75 cents. Get Green's prize almanac at Sharrar & Mulholland's.

Hawk and Partridge.

In "Reminiscences of a Falconer" Major Fisher describes the tactics of a partridge when pursued by a tame falcon.

The falcon was descending upon the partridge when the partridge stopped short and fell to the ground as if dead. He seemed to be lost in the short stubble of the field. He was far too knowing to trust himself again on the wing, and the hawk had no alternative but to take him on the ground, which he speedily attempted to do.

But on the ground the partridge was far more agile than he, running this way and that with great speed. The hawk would jump awkwardly up and dart after the scudding partridge, who just at the right moment jumped from the ground and over his back, descended on the other side and commenced running harder than before.

Time after time this was done. At every attempt the partridge met the hawk with outstretched neck and raised hackles, in the attitude of a fighting bantam cock, jumping up to avoid being clutched whenever the hawk struck at him. In fact, his whole action was that of a plucky little game bantam.

This went on for some time, until, as I regret to say, I ended the unequal strife by putting the partridge once more fairly on the wing, when, of course, the hawk readily overtook and secured it, not overmuch to his credit and still less to mine.

The Successful Doctor.

The king of purgatory sent his letters to earth to bring back some skillful Chinese physician. "You must look for one," said the king. "at whose door there are no aggrieved spirits of disembodied patients." The doctor went off, but at the house of every doctor they visited there were crowds of wailing ghosts hanging about. At last they found a doctor at whose door there was only a single shade and cried out, "This man is evidently the skillful one we are in search of." On inquiry, however, they discovered that he had only started practice the day before.—Giles "History of Chinese Literature."

Cigars Are Rights and Lefts.

"It is not always because a cigar is badly made that the wrapper curls up and works off," said a tobacco dealer. "It is often because a right handed man is smoking a left handed cigar. Sounds strange, hey? Well, a left handed cigar is one rolled by the maker's left hand, for all cigar makers must be ambidexterous. A piece of tobacco for a wrapper is cut on the bias and is rolled from left to right on the filler. The other piece, for reasons of economy, is then used and must be rolled the opposite way by the operator's other hand. Hence a smoker who holds his cigar in his right hand sometimes in twisting it about rubs the wrapper the wrong way and unloosens it."—Philadelphia Times.

Why She Wanted to Know.

"Is this Hazel street?" asked a young woman in one of the back seats of an East Tenth street car who was carrying a diminutive poodle dog under her arm.

"No, madam," said the conductor. "I will tell you when we come to it." Later on she repeated the question, and the conductor answered with some show of impatience. Finally when Hazel street was reached, he rang, and the car came to a stop. "This is Hazel street," said the conductor.

"Oh, I don't want to get off at that street. I only wanted to know where it was. I go to the end of the line." Then as the car started again she looked down at the pug and said in tones of extreme affection, "There, dearie, there's where your muddy lives."—Indianapolis News.

Noblesse Oblige.

"What are you staring at, Nellie?" "Oh, please, ma'am, with your hair like that and your diamonds you do look so like Lady Plantagenet Gingham that I was own maid to! Are you any relation, ma'am?"

"No—at least no near relation. But you can have that pink silk skirt waist of mine, Nellie."—Life.

Colonies as Kingdoms.

Queen Elizabeth was commonly spoken of as queen of Virginia. Virginia and Carolina were kingdoms under the Stuarts. Massachusetts was recognized as a "sister kingdom" by Cromwell's parliament.—London Express.

Including the Frame.

His indulgent friends had praised his attempts at painting and drawing to such an extent that the youth really imagined himself to be an artist. His wealthy friends even bought his pictures for considerable sums of money to encourage him," as they said.

Recently in walking along the Strand in London he was much delighted at seeing one of his pictures, finely framed, in a dealer's window, especially as he was walking with a pretty lady before whom he wished to appear in the best possible light.

Calling the attention of the lady to the picture, he said: "Pardon me, but I have some curiosity to know how my pictures stand commercially."

And the two entered the shop. "My good man," said he to the keeper of it, "what is the price of that picture in the window here?"

"Three shillings." "Great Scott!" cried the artist recoiling. The shopman, thinking the exclamation to be one of surprise at the high price, added: "Well, it includes the frame"—Exchange.
